Our golf course recently faced a major challenge when it was struck by severe flooding as communicated to all members, resulting in the forced closure of the entire facility. However, thanks to the swift and decisive action taken by the committee, along with the dedicated efforts of numerous individuals, we were able to overcome this setback and have started restoring our beloved course to its former glory.

In particular, we extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to Ryno Olivier, Pieter Fourie, and Brent Walbrugh for their invaluable contributions during this trying time. Ryno's proactive organisation in securing an excavator played a crucial role in the cleanup process and saving the bridge, coupled with Pieter Fourie's expert advice and wealth of experience – Generously offering to remove and clear the reeds once all has dried up at no charge to the Club. Brent, drawing upon his engineering and construction background, played a pivotal role in the current restoration of the bridge at the 17th Hole... Which is still in progress and at this stage only open for golfers to cross by foot and have their golf carts parked below at the crossing.

It is through the collective efforts of these individuals, along with the unwavering dedication of the course staff, that we are thrilled to announce the reopening of our full 18 Hole golf course this Saturday.

We extend our sincere gratitude to everyone involved for their unwavering commitment and expertise, which has allowed us to continue enjoying our cherished golfing experience at KRGC.
